

On the basis of Articles 253 (2) and 355 of the Statute of the University of Maribor (Official Gazette of the Republic of Slovenia, No. 29/2017 – UPB12), the Senate of the University of Maribor, at the 32nd regular session of 17 April 2018, adopted the following

RULES AND REGULATIONS ON DOCTORAL STUDIES AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MARIBOR

No.: 012/2018/1

I. GENERAL PROVISIONS

Article 1

- (1) The detailed provisions of these Rules and Regulations govern the preparation, organisation, implementation, criteria, and monitoring of the quality of third-cycle study programmes (hereinafter referred to as 'doctoral studies') at the University of Maribor (hereinafter referred to as 'the UM'), including the doctoral dissertation topic application and approval procedures, preparation, assessment, and defence of the doctoral dissertation, as well as the doctoral promotion ceremony.
- (2) A member of the UM may, pursuant to these Rules and Regulations, additionally regulate the specificities of the procedure for organisation, implementation, and quality monitoring of doctoral studies.

Article 2

- (1) All provisions of the Rules and Regulations referring to supervisor shall apply mutatis mutandis to co-supervisor, with the exception of the limitation on the total number of supervisions and the condition of employment or a contractual relationship with the UM.

Article 3

- (1) Doctoral study programmes at the UM (hereinafter referred to as 'doctoral study programmes') are third-cycle study programmes after completion of which students obtain the highest academic title, »doktor/-ica znanosti«.
- (2) In these Rules and Regulations, the term chair refers to a member's organisational unit responsible for the content of a doctoral study programme (chair, institute, department, laboratory, etc.).
- (3) In these Rules and Regulations, the term doctoral student refers to a doctoral student from the enrolment in a doctoral study programme to a successful defence of a doctoral dissertation.
- (4) In these Rules and Regulations, the term supervisor applies to a supervisor and co-supervisor. The terms used in these Rules and Regulations in the male gender shall be considered neutral and shall refer to both the masculine and feminine genders.

Article 4

- (1) In appointing supervisors, co-supervisors, external examiners, and other members of committees in the procedure of evaluating a doctoral topic and dissertation, a principle for the prevention of conflict of interest shall be considered in addition to other more specific criteria. An appointee is obliged to notify the appointing authority:

- if the doctoral student is his or her blood relative in a direct line or a collateral line up to the fourth degree;
- if he or she is married to the doctoral student, or lives or has lived with them in a non-marital cohabitation, or is married to doctoral student's relative in law up to the second degree, even if the marriage has ended, or if he or she lives or has lived with them in a non-marital cohabitation;
- if he or she is a guardian, an adoptive parent, an adopted child, or a foster parent of the doctoral student; and
- if he or she is in any other way connected to the doctoral student, which could lead to the conflict of interest.

II. DOCTORAL STUDY PROGRAMMES

(fundamental principles)

Article 5

- (1) Doctoral study programmes are based on the research capacity of certain research fields and meet the quality criteria required by the standards and guidelines for quality assurance in the European Higher Education and Research Area, by the Slovenian Quality Assurance Agency for Higher Education (hereinafter referred to as 'SQAA'), and by additional standards of excellence of the UM, provided for in these Rules and Regulations.
- (2) The critical mass for accreditation and implementation of a doctoral study programme is at least six (6) course coordinators and supervisors who fulfil the standards provided for in these Rules and Regulations and of which at least four (4) shall be in an employment relationship with the UM.
- (3) The primary purpose of doctoral studies is to educate doctoral students to become scholars with an in-depth understanding of theoretical and methodological concepts, a high degree of critical reflection, and the ability to independently develop new knowledge and solve the most complex of problems.

(types of doctoral study programmes)

Article 6

- (1) Doctoral study programmes differ, in particular, in terms of organisation, the level of interdisciplinarity, and the fulfilment of additional standards of excellence. They may be organised within one or more members (interfaculty study programmes) or as joint doctoral study programmes between Slovenian and foreign partner higher education institutions.
- (2) Interfaculty doctoral study programmes are organised and implemented in the manner defined by these Rules and Regulations and by a cooperation agreement on the preparation and implementation of a doctoral study programme, concluded upon accreditation of the programme.
- (3) Joint doctoral study programmes are organised in the manner defined by a cooperation agreement between partners involved in a study programme, concluded upon accreditation of the programme.

(UM Doctoral School)

Article 7

- (1) The UM Doctoral School is a term encompassing all doctoral study programmes implemented by UM members according to the minimum standards of excellence laid down in these Rules and Regulations.
- (2) The compliance of doctoral study programmes with the minimum standards of excellence defined by these Rules and Regulations shall be verified upon the first accreditation of a new programme and in the case of existing programmes, when a member or its doctoral study programmes are prepared, but at the latest until the deadline set in the transitional provisions, according to which doctoral study programmes not meeting the minimum standards defined by these Rules and Regulations shall no longer be opened for application.
- (3) The Doctoral School has a Council of the UM Doctoral School which is, in accordance with provisions of the UM Statute on the composition of committees, senates, and academic councils, comprised of representatives of doctoral students and one head of a doctoral study programme from each member. A head shall be nominated to the Council by the member's senate or by a vice-dean responsible for doctoral studies if complying with requirements for the head of a doctoral study programme.
- (4) The Council of the UM Doctoral School examines the relevance of doctoral study programmes prior to the publication of a call, examines and approves the content programme, the implementation of which is offered to all doctoral study programmes (e.g. contents in the field of transferable knowledge), examines topics of doctoral dissertations, changes, and (self-)evaluation reports of doctoral study programmes, and proposes activities for permanent maintenance and improvement of quality of doctoral studies at the UM.

(duration and structure of the curriculum of doctoral study programmes)

Article 8

- (1) Study programmes last three (3) or four (4) years. Regardless of duration, doctoral study programmes at the UM are designed and implemented in a way that enables integration and compliance with minimum quality standards.
- (2) The structure of the curriculum of the doctoral study programmes at the UM contains the following mandatory elements:
  - courses are evaluated with a number of credits (ECTS) divided by 3, which enables selection between courses of doctoral study programmes at the UM;
  - the first year of study includes a course from the field of scientific-research methods, evaluated at 3 ECTS at the minimum;
  - the winter semester of one of the study years includes a course where doctoral students gain transferable knowledge (e.g. writing scientific papers, research ethics, negotiations, intellectual property, foreign scientific language, projects, communication, career development, and other transferable knowledge), evaluated at 3 ECTS at the minimum;
  - individual research work (hereinafter referred to as 'IRW') is included in each semester from the first semester onwards;
  - organised forms of study, including parts of individual courses implemented as such, comprise exactly 60 ECTS and are intended for the principal courses of the field, elective courses, acquiring transferable knowledge, and for compulsory presentations of the work of doctoral students in the framework of a doctoral study programme, doctoral topic and research work; and

- the curriculum includes at least 10 % of elective content (18 or 24 ECTS).
- (3) Examples of the structure of doctoral studies according to duration are presented in Annex 11 to these Rules and Regulations.

(coordinators of doctoral study courses)

Article 9

- (1) A coordinator of a doctoral study course is a qualified higher education teacher (with the title of assistant professor, associate professor, or full professor) who:
- is employed by the UM or is in a contractual relationship with the UM, and
  - is scientifically active, as evidenced by the appropriate scientific bibliography in the course's field of study in the last five years.
- (2) Relevant references proving scientific activity are:
- scientific articles published in journals with an impact factor (JCR) and being classified in the upper-three quarters according to the value of the impact factor, or
  - scientific monographs or chapters in scientific monographs issued by publishing houses from the list of the Slovenian Research Agency (ARRS), or
  - patents with complete testing.
- (3) When assessing references in the field of social sciences or humanities, the following specific criteria apply:
- for scientific articles (in the first indent of paragraph 2), articles published in journals with an impact factor (SNIP) and being classified in the upper-three quarters according to the value of the impact factor are also taken into account; in the field of humanities, scientific articles published by journals included in the Scopus database (d) are taken into account, and in the field of humanities, those included in the Scopus database are taken into account (h);
  - for scientific monographs (in the second indent of paragraph 2), scientific monographs issued by a domestic or foreign publishing house are also taken into account if the scientific monograph is classified in the SICRIS database into the category 2A; and
  - independent scientific compositions or chapters in scientific monographs issued by a domestic or foreign publishing house are also taken into account if they are classified in the SICRIS database into the category 3A or 3B.
- (4) A course coordinator shall demonstrate three publications of all publications issued in the last five years for which he is, as a rule, the first or leading author. The independent authorship of a scientific monograph replaces two scientific articles or two chapters in a scientific monograph. Foreign citizens shall demonstrate comparable scientific activity in a specific scientific field.
- (5) Members may impose more stringent requirements with regard to publications of course coordinators, or they may replace one publication with leading industrial projects or international research projects at the member and in the course's field of study.
- (6) For a specific, narrow area of research, a member may propose different criteria to those specified in paragraphs 2 and 3, however, they shall be shown to be comparable to criteria at renowned international universities. The UM Senate shall decide upon an exception following the opinion of the competent committee of the Senate.
- (7) An individual higher education teacher is, as a rule, a coordinator of only one doctoral study programme course, in which he is narrowly specialised. If an individual higher education teacher is a coordinator of more than one course (maximum two courses), he shall demonstrate different references for each course, in the manner and under the requirements stipulated in paragraphs 1 to 3.

- (8) A coordinator of a course in the field of scientific-research work methodology or another course with comparable study outcomes as well as the “Transferable Knowledge” course is a higher education teacher with a relevant bibliography in the field of the doctoral study programme. Coordination of these courses does not constitute coordination as defined in paragraph 7.
- (9) A member verifies the scientific activity of its coordinators prior to the confirmation of the call for application for the next academic year. If an individual coordinator no longer meets the criteria for coordination, he is replaced, or the course is excluded from the study programme.

Article 10

- (1) A supervisor (or a working supervisor until the approval of a doctoral dissertation topic) of doctoral studies may be an individual who holds a valid title of a higher education teacher (an assistant professor, associate professor, or full professor) or researcher (a research fellow, senior research fellow, or research counsellor) and:
  - as determined for a coordinator of a doctoral study programme course in the previous Article, is scientifically active which is evidenced by the appropriate scientific bibliography in the narrow field of the doctoral dissertation topic in the last five years; if an exception applies to course coordinators of a specific narrow research area, it may also apply to co-supervisors;
  - may provide a doctoral student with research capacities or research infrastructure for research based on laboratory work;
  - is employed by the UM or is in a contractual relationship with the UM; and
  - is at the time not confirmed as a supervisor to five doctoral students.
- (2) Members may impose more stringent requirements with regard to scientific publications of supervisors, or they may replace one publication with leading industrial projects or international research projects at the member.
- (3) In duly justified cases, a supervisor may also be a recognised researcher from another institution showing comparable activity in the specific scientific field. The same as determined in paragraph 1 also applies to distinguished professors and other retired higher education teachers.
- (4) If a working supervisor already has five confirmed supervisions, a member justifies an additional supervision through a supervisor confirmation procedure, however, the additional supervision is only possible if the proposed supervisor proves exceptional scientific activity.
- (5) A supervisor is appointed by the UM Senate upon the approval of the doctoral dissertation topic, when a working supervisor, as a rule, becomes a supervisor.
- (6) Co-supervision is possible if the topic is interdisciplinary, if someone is a supervisor for the first time, if the supervisor works for a different institution, and in other justified cases. Criteria applying to supervisors apply also to co-supervisors, with the exception of those in the third and fourth indents of paragraph 1. In the procedure for the approval of a doctoral dissertation topic and supervisor, the UM member gives a brief explanation of the expected contribution of both the supervisor and co-supervisor. If the interdisciplinarity of the work requires it, there may be more than one co-supervisor.
- (7) The UM organises various forms of supervisor training and the transfer of good practice examples. It is recommended that anyone who wants to be a supervisor on doctoral studies attends such training at least once in five years.

- (8) In circumstances when the supervisor's appointment period to the position of a higher education teacher or researcher expires, or the supervisor dies, is seriously ill, or absent for some other reason for a longer duration of time or permanently, and is no longer able to guide the doctoral student, a new supervisor is appointed following the same procedure as that of the original supervisor. If there is no suitable candidate for a new supervisor and/or the work is in its final stages, the doctoral student may finish the dissertation on his own with the consent of the member's senate.

(heads of doctoral study programmes)

Article 11

- (1) Each doctoral study programme has a head. In the case of an inter-faculty or joint doctoral study programme, a coordinating board of the study programme is determined by an agreement. The board coordinates implementation and development of the doctoral study programme. The head of the coordinating board assumes the role of the head of the doctoral study programme.
- (2) The head of a doctoral study programme is a higher education teacher with great academic authority and experiences as well as an internationally renowned researcher with experiences as a doctoral studies supervisor. The head of a doctoral study programme brings prominence and global recognition to the programme. A member may decide to appoint a vice-dean responsible for doctoral studies as the head of a doctoral study programme if he meets the requirements listed in the first and second sentence of this paragraph.
- (3) The head of a doctoral study programme is responsible for the development of the doctoral study programme, settles substantive issues arising from the implementation of doctoral studies, coordinates certain procedures, and is responsible for the implementation of the annual self-evaluation of the doctoral study programme.
- (4) The head of a doctoral study programme also assesses annual reports on ongoing monitoring of the progress of doctoral students. Any issues on the part of a student or supervisor detected by a report or otherwise and not solvable by the head are referred to a competent committee which may decide to refer the matter also to the member's senate.
- (5) The duration of the term of office of the head of a doctoral study programme is four years.

III. ENROLMENT AND IMPLEMENTATION OF DOCTORAL STUDIES

(enrolment)

Article 12

- (1) General requirements for enrolment in doctoral studies are determined by the Higher Education Act; additional requirements candidates for doctoral studies shall fulfil are determined by these Rules and Regulations and by the doctoral study programme the candidates wish to enrol in.
- (2) Candidates for doctoral studies may apply to doctoral study programmes of the UM members. The application for enrolment shall be filed within time limits and in the manner determined by the annual call for enrolment.
- (3) Prior to enrolment, a candidate for doctoral studies shall choose, as a rule, a working supervisor and narrow area of research, and prepare a framework programme of doctoral studies (Annex 14).

- (4) If a doctoral candidate does not have an intended working supervisor upon enrolment, he shall be notified in writing. If the doctoral student insists on enrolling, the doctoral studies committee or the head of the doctoral study programme appoints one of the course coordinators as a working supervisor, with his consent, upon enrolment.
- (5) Upon enrolment in doctoral studies, a doctoral student shall conclude an Agreement on Studies and Supervision Within a Third-Cycle Study Programme with the member implementing the doctoral study programme (or with members in the case of an inter-faculty study programme). The agreement shall specify the name of the working supervisor, content plan and time schedule of doctoral studies, as well as responsibilities and obligations of the signatories. By signing the agreement, the signatories shall commit to cooperate in the implementation of the doctoral study programme in accordance with the accredited study programme, and with the content plan and time schedule of doctoral studies. The draft agreement is listed in Annex 13.

Article 14

- (1) A supervisor occupies a crucial role in doctoral studies of an individual doctoral student, in planning a doctoral student's study programme, in advising and directing scientific-research work, in registering the topic of the doctoral dissertation, in preparing a doctoral dissertation, and in regularly evaluating doctoral student's progress.
- (2) A supervisor shall have the right to:
  - require a change of supervision if at any time during doctoral studies a legitimate reason occurs, indicating that cooperation between him and the doctoral student is no longer possible;
  - suggest a co-supervisor if he considers it necessary for a successful completion of doctoral studies, or that it will contribute to the quality of the doctoral dissertation;
  - propose to the member's senate a termination of supervision if a doctoral student fails to fulfil the obligations required by the study programme for two consecutive years and therefore fails to meet the requirements for enrolling in the next year of studies, or if a doctoral student makes a statement that he is temporarily suspending doctoral studies at his own will; and
  - participate in training intended for supervisors of doctoral studies.
- (3) By accepting supervision, a supervisor shall undertake:

- to counsel the doctoral student on choosing suitable courses and to participate in outlining a doctoral study programme;
  - to take the time to supervise the doctoral student, including the time for regular consultations and counselling/guidance in the selection of literature, sources, and appropriate scientific-research methods, in defining the research problem, in scientific-research work, in preparing the doctoral dissertation topic, in publishing research findings, and in implementing other activities listed in the following indents;
  - to include the doctoral student in scientific-research work;

  - to send a written report on the doctoral student's progress in fulfilling study obligations, scientific-research work, or preparing the doctoral dissertation to the head of the doctoral study programme at least once a year.
- (4) If it is established at any time during the doctoral studies that the supervisor has not been fulfilling the defined obligations, the doctoral student, the head of the doctoral study programme, or the member's senate may propose a change of supervisor. The doctoral student shall be appointed another supervisor according to the procedure determined in Chapter IV of these Rules and Regulations. The supervisor who has been replaced due to omission of obligation shall be required to complete supervisor training before supervising another doctoral student. If it is determined that the supervisor has again failed to fulfil his supervising obligations, the higher education teacher shall be banned from supervising doctoral students at the UM.
- (5) If at any time during doctoral studies a legitimate reason occurs indicating that cooperation between the supervisor and doctoral student is no longer possible, the student and supervisor shall have the right to require a change by informing the relevant student affairs office and head of the doctoral study programme in writing. With the consent of the existing supervisor, a new supervisor may be appointed for the existing topic of the doctoral dissertation, or the change of supervisor results in the change of doctoral dissertation topic.
- (6) The co-supervisor may, in agreement with the supervisor, assume part of the obligations defined in paragraph 3.
- (7) Rights and obligations of supervisors defined in paragraphs 2 and 3 as well as requirements for the replacement defined in paragraph 4 and 5 shall apply mutatis mutandis to co-supervisors.

- (3) A doctoral student and his supervisor shall send a written report on the fulfilled study obligations as well as on scientific-research work and its progress to the head of the doctoral study programme each year at the latest by 15 September. The report shall include an opinion on whether the progress made to date allows the doctoral student to complete his studies within the envisaged time limit. A sample report is in Annex 12.
- (4) The head of a doctoral study programme shall assess annual reports on ongoing monitoring of the progress of doctoral students at the latest by 25 September. Any issues on the part of a doctoral student or supervisor detected by a report or otherwise and not solvable by the head are forwarded to a competent committee.
- (5) If a supervisor's annual report on the progress of a doctoral student's study obligations is negative, the supervisor shall first inform the doctoral student who has the right to write a separate report. The head of the doctoral study programme shall forward the reports of the supervisor and doctoral student to a competent committee of the member for further procedure, except when the doctoral student has submitted a written statement with the report stating that he is temporarily suspending doctoral studies at his own will. If the competent committee endorses the supervisor's negative report, it may be, together with missing ECTS credits, the reason that the doctoral student shall not progress to the next year of studies.

(verifying the fulfilment of requirements for the doctoral dissertation topic application)

Article 19

- (1) Upon receipt of a doctoral dissertation topic application, the competent student affairs office shall verify the fulfilment of application requirements and the number of supervisions the intended supervisor is responsible for at the time, taking into account the number of doctoral topics and supervisions confirmed by the UM Senate.
- (2) If the proposed supervisor exceeds the total number of five allowed supervisions due to a new supervision, the competent student affairs office shall inform, in writing, the doctoral student, proposed supervisor, head of the doctoral study programme, and head of the competent chair. The competent chair shall provide justification for exceeding the allowed number of supervisions, or propose to the student another supervisor, thereby informing all the aforementioned about it.
- (3) The student affairs office shall also verify whether the supervisor is employed by or in a contractual relationship with the UM. If it is established that he is not, the office shall inform the head of the doctoral study programme and the head of the competent chair and ask them to provide justification for the need for such a supervisor or to propose a new supervisor who shall meet the criterion of being employed by or in a contractual relationship with the UM.

- (4) Within five working days from the receipt of the complete application, the competent student affairs office shall forward one copy of the application to the head of the doctoral study programme who shall then have five working days to verify the fulfilment of requirements regarding the scientific activity of the proposed supervisor/co-supervisor in the field of the applied doctoral dissertation. In doing so, the head may require additional evidence from the supervisor/co-supervisor about his scientific activity. If based on the evidence the proposed supervisor/co-supervisor shall not demonstrate required scientific activity, the head of the doctoral study programme shall inform the competent student affairs office, doctoral student, proposed supervisor/co-supervisor and head of the competent chair. The competent chair shall propose another supervisor/co-supervisor who shall meet the criterion of being scientifically active in the relevant field, and inform the doctoral student as well as the head of the doctoral study programme.
- (5) If the proposal for changing the supervisor/co-supervisor is made at the stage of verifying topic application requirements, the procedure shall continue if the student agrees with the proposed new supervisor/co-supervisor and when the proposed supervisor/co-supervisor gives the consent to the appointment and to the outline proposal of the doctoral dissertation.
- (6) After the procedure for the verification of the scientific activity of the proposed supervisor/co-supervisor has been completed, the head of the doctoral study programme shall forward the doctoral dissertation topic application to the head of the competent chair or to the member's committee responsible for doctoral studies (hereinafter referred to as 'the competent committee) for expert consideration. The competence shall be defined in the member's own rules.

(processing the doctoral dissertation topic application by the competent chair/committee)

Article 20

- (1) The head of the chair/competent committee shall place the doctoral dissertation topic application on the agenda of the first subsequent session of the chair/competent committee at which an expert opinion on the doctoral student's application shall be formed. The UM Senate shall decide upon such an exception following the opinion of the competent committee.
- (6) A competent student affairs office shall inform the head of the doctoral study programme about the submission of the doctoral dissertation within five working days. The head of the doctoral study programme shall verify the fulfilment of formal requirements for the defence of the doctoral dissertation based on the information on the student's doctoral studies, provided by the student affairs office from official records, and on the information on the student's publications of doctoral dissertation findings, being publicly available or submitted by the student.
- (7) The doctoral student who does not submit the doctoral dissertation until the deadline set in the decision on topic approval for justifiable reasons may address to the member's senate a request for an extension of the deadline before the said deadline expires. - (1) After having received all final reports from the examiners, the head of the doctoral study programme or head of the Doctoral School shall forward the proposed doctoral dissertation together with reports to the dean who shall place it on the agenda of the first subsequent session of the member's senate or require a preliminary opinion from the competent committee of the member's senate, if specified in the member's rules.
- (2) If reports of all examiners in the procedure for the preliminary examination of the doctoral dissertation are positive, the member's senate shall not be authorised to reject the doctoral dissertation unless there are reasonable grounds to believe that the doctoral dissertation is not the result of the doctoral student's own creativity and personal achievements.
- (3) The confirmation of the preliminary examination of the doctoral dissertation means that all requirements for the approval of the defence have been fulfilled.
- (4) The member's senate shall also examine negative reports. If these are confirmed, the member's dean shall issue a decision on stopping the procedure based on the decision by the member's senate.
- (5) If the doctoral dissertation is rejected, the doctoral student shall not be allowed to submit it again in order to be granted the academic title "doctor/-ica znanosti".

Submission to the ProQuest Dissertations & Theses database is made automatically by harvesting doctoral dissertations via the DKUM's OAI-PMH server.
- (3) At the same time, the doctoral candidate shall also submit the Statement of Authorship and Identity Between Printed and Electronic Form of the Doctoral Dissertation and a consent for publishing personal data (Annex 4), declaring that the doctoral dissertation is the result of his own scientific-research work, the printed form is identical to the electronic one, and that he grants the University of Maribor a gratuitous, non-exclusive, and worldwide right of unlimited duration to store the copyrighted work in printed and electronic forms, reproduce it, and give public access to it on the World Wide Web through the DKUM. In the case of other published written works created by the student as part of his study obligations prior to the signing of the statement, the student shall transfer the above mentioned copyright rights in the defined extent in accordance with the publisher's rules.
- (4) If the doctoral dissertation is not to be made publicly available, the doctoral candidate shall forward the Statement of Authorship and Identity Between Printed and Electronic Form of the Doctoral Dissertation also to the supervisor for signing.

After the printed copy has been submitted, the student affairs office shall make it impossible for the doctoral candidate to subsequently submit another version of the doctoral dissertation to the DKUM. Before completing the studies, the student affairs office shall enable the doctoral student to participate in the study satisfaction survey.

- (7) The UM shall have the right to make the doctoral dissertation publicly available and allow its general use under the conditions of the Creative Commons CC BY-NC-ND<sup>1</sup> license (Attribution-NonCommercial-ShareAlike-NoDerivatives). The author of the doctoral dissertation may decide to apply a more permissive form of licence, which shall be decided upon signing the Statement of Authorship and Identity Between Printed and Electronic Form of the Doctoral Dissertation (Annex 4).
- (8) If the doctoral dissertation is associated with a particular client, public availability may be deferred in order to ensure competitive advantage, protection of business secrets, safety of persons and nature, protection of industrial property, or confidentiality of information of the client. The deferment shall not exceed 3 years from the date of the defence which shall also be stated in the Statement of Authorship and Identity Between Printed and Electronic Form of the Doctoral Dissertation. During the period when the content of the doctoral dissertation is in its electronic form unavailable, the DKUM shall make public only bibliographic data and the content similarity detection software shall mark the dissertation as “a private source”.
- (9) After having received a printed copy of the doctoral dissertation with the attached Statement of Authorship and Identity Between Printed and Electronic Form of the Doctoral Dissertation, the temporary unavailability of the printed and electronic forms of the doctoral dissertation shall be ensured by the library of the UM member and the UKM, as a repository of legal deposit copies of publications. The temporary unavailability of the doctoral dissertation shall be ensured through the DKUM. The public availability of the doctoral dissertation shall be deferred until the deadline determined in the Statement of Authorship and Identity Between Printed and Electronic Form of the Doctoral Dissertation.
